

W0157

Dyeing Crystals. Bart Kahr, Dept. of Chemistry, Univ. of Washington, Seattle, WA.

Despite the fact that human beings have been dyeing textiles for thousands of years, the dyeing of crystals never developed as a craft, or as an established area of scientific inquiry. Here, we review 15 years of work in our laboratories on the art and science of dyeing crystals.